Things to prepare before you surf.

- Make sure the computer you are using has spyware and malware. Sometimes sites have viruses attached that they are not aware of.
- Have an external data storage device to store the data on. (Memory card, flash drive, data disk, etc). Sometimes the sites don't last long, when you find good stuff, save it right then!
- Have a purpose in mind. Are you surfing for future reference or planning a lesson or activity.
- Bookmark sites you find the most useful, but remember to check them often to make sure they are still there and operating.
- If you get to a site you have used before, and gets an error message, the site is no longer there. Do not keep trying to get it; this is often where viruses are picked up!
- Once you have found and downloaded material, organize it in a folder so that you can find it when you want it. Nothing is as frustrating as having something you want to use, and can't find it.

Happy surfing!

There are so many sites that it was difficult to find just a few to include in this handout. The sites included in this handout are ones that I visited to check them out to make sure they are really free to download. This was not a short task, but took quite a few days to do so. Be sure to note if it is a website with information, (.com or .org) or is a blog which is someone's opinion. Sometimes the blog is good info, sometimes not-depending on your need.

Why did all these resources become available?

With the advent of homeschooling, more information was put online to meet the needs of parents who were schooling their children at home and needed resources to meet the graduation eligibility. Also, more parents were looking at ways to prepare their children for school while they are still preschool age at home. (Stay at home moms). There are also sites designed specifically for child care facilities operation that I found very helpful; there are even sites that contain materials to use for bible instruction.
